MESSAGE:

Service Canada/Employment and Social Development Canada (ESDC) has asked Labour to forward this to information regarding reporting instructions to staff and training providers working with individuals in receipt of Employment Insurance (EI) benefits.

EI recipients who are on break from approved training during the Christmas period (for example: December 22, 2017-January 3, 2018) should continue to report "Yes" to the training question when reporting to ESDC. When asked for number of hours attended, they are to indicate at least one hour of training in each week of the break period.

If the recipient is required to complete paper report cards, they are to include in the space provided that they are on a 'BREAK' in addition to the instruction above.

EI recipients reporting 'NO' or 0 hours to the question asking if they are in training may have their reports rejected.

Service Managers responsible for individuals in receipt of Part 1 EI benefits should advise training participants accordingly.
