

Jeanette Osadchuk

A senior producer at CTV News Edmonton, Jeanette Osadchuk has worn many hats since she started working with the news media 15 years ago.

Born in Alberta 's capital city and raised in Namao, Alberta, Jeanette is a graduate of the broadcast program at the Northern Alberta Institute of Technology.

After completing a tour of duty as a photojournalist at CTV in Red Deer in 1997, Jeanette returned to Edmonton to work as a field reporter, morning anchor and eventually graduated to the role of news producer at CTV. She recently discovered another passion - spending time with the children featured on Wednesday's Child. The move was a natural transition for Jeanette, who, along with husband Kyle, has three very active young sons.

In her spare time Jeanette enjoys baking, reading, shopping and being outside with her family.

Jeannette is proud to be a part of CTV Edmonton's rich history and the host of Wednesday's Child, which has a strong connection to the Alberta community.
